At 8:45 each morning, a new day is begun at Centerville High School. Her corridors echo with chatter of the biology test, the coronation, the banquet, or Saturday's date. To a few, it is "just a school," but to the majority of students it is where they learned together, shared together, and had fun together. A year at Centerville High is a composite of activities. It is this spirit of activity which our yearbook has attempted to capture. We hope as you leaf through its pages you will relive many memorable moments at C. H. C., "Our Little Corner of the World."

"IT'S OVER"

Yes, it is over! We have tried in this book to capture moments of this year that will mean a great deal to each student at Centerville High School. I would like to thank all of the annual staff for their cooperation and work toward making this a successful yearbook. Also, I would like to give a special "Thank You" to Mr. Clark, our annual advisor, for his patience and understanding, and to my assistant, Brenda Herell, for her diligent work and untiring interest.

Dear Students:

One thing you should resolve upon: You will not be a sponge or a parasite. You should give an honest equivalent for what you get. You should want no man's money for which you have not rendered a full return. You should want no wages that you have not earned. If you work for any man or any company or any institution, you should render a full, ample, generous service. If you work for the city, state, or the nation, you should give your best thought, your best effort, your most conscientous and efficient endeavor. No man should ever be made poor by their dealing with you. If you can give a little more than you get each time, in that shall be your happiness. The great commonwealth of human society should never be the loser through you. You should take care to put in the common fund more than you take out.

To live, to really live, you must know you are doing something your community needs to have done. You must have in your own mind a picture of yourself as the helper of other human beings.

FAREWELL

As president of this year's graduating class, it is with mixed emotions that I write these words of farewell. On the day we don our caps and gowns to receive our diplomas, some of us will feel a sadness at leaving our friends and teachers. However, there will also be gladness and a feeling of gratitude among us. Gratitude for having had the opportunity to graduate from high school; for our parents, teachers and friends; for this great country in which we live; and for the many opportunities which lie ahead of us.

Centerville High School will always be the greatest school in the world, and we hope that future graduating classes will share this opinion with us.

We wish for all of you the best that life has to offer.

Sincerely,

Tony Smith
